Reading the Bible: The First 5 Books

If you're a new Christian encountering the Old Testament for the first time, or you've had difficulty understanding its content or relevance, come to "Reading the Bible: the First 5 Books." We'll be looking at the first part of scripture ever to be recognized as scripture, its key narratives and themes, and the way the first 5 books of the Bible functioned in the life of Jesus and the early Church. Join us next Sunday, October 28 at either 10:45 a.m. or 12:30 p.m in Cody Hall.

Better Together: Small Group Social

"Small groups are a fun, relaxed environment where you can meet new people, socialize, and develop friendships. Joining a Small Group is also an excellent way to discuss topics from the Bible in a casual and informal setting. The discussion time allows us to ask questions, share ideas and carefully analyze the given topic or scripture. This can be particularly helpful for anyone new to church or simply looking to learn more about the Bible. Through Small Groups, I've had the opportunity to learn a lot from my peers, and have had the chance to connect with people in a way I would not have otherwise been able to."

- Abodya

If you're involved in, or are interested in finding out more about Small Groups, join us on Saturday, November 3 from 4:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. for a celebration of food and community. We will share stories, connect with each other, and learn about the vision of Small Groups at St. Paul's. Kids are welcome - we'll have a movie with snacks in Cody Hall. RSVP by October 23 at stpaulsbloor.org/small-group-social or by calling the office at 416-961-8116 ext. 237.
