Reverse Advent - Making Some Room

By Janet Earle

But as for me, I watch in hope for the Lord, I wait for God my Saviour; my God will hear me. Micah 7:7

I must confess I like all the seasonal decorations that begin to appear, as if by magic, just after Halloween. It's like a musical chord growing louder and louder until at last, Christmas arrives. The world grows darker at this time of year, so for me, the lights and colours of Christmas are a welcome addition. Twinkly lights, red bows, a little sparkle here and there, why not?

You may have seen some bright red bags at St. Paul's in the atrium, or tucked under someone's arm. These large festive bags have a calendar inside, and they are one way we are encouraging our community to observe Advent this year.

We live in a world tuned into 'the holidays', barely able to remember what Christmas is all about, let alone Advent. Is Advent just a time to open a calendar door each day, and eat a little chocolate to fortify ourselves for more shopping and parties? What is Advent really all about?

Advent is not the party before the party. It is a time of preparation, both for Christmas when we remember the birth of Christ, but also preparation for Christ's return to earth in power and glory. We are meant to be both hopeful and prepared for the return of Jesus. Although it is easy to lose sight of this amid the pre-Christmas celebrations, Advent is a season of expectant waiting. So how might we engage in this?

The Bible has a lot to say about hearts and what they should be filled with. It seems to me, especially at this time of year, that our hearts are filled with many things besides God. Advent provides an opportunity to focus on making space in our hearts for Him.

If you want to make room in your closet, you need to give something away. If we want to refocus our hearts, we can turn away from things that distract and destroy us, and turn to our God and to our neighbours - the ones we are called to serve.

The calendar has a list of suggested items to donate to St. Paul's for our partners in ministry – Youth Unlimited, Yonge Street Mission, Sanctuary, and Toronto City Mission – organizations that serve youth and adults in need in our city.

Fill up your bag with some or all of the items on the calendar, ensuring you include only new, and non-perishable items. Bring your bag back on Sunday, December 17th. Donations will be distributed in 2018.

Take a bag home and fill it up. Engage with Advent this year, and open your heart to God's goodness and love.

Advent Ask

This Christmas season we are challenging everyone to participate in our Advent Ask in one of three ways – or all three.

1) Gifts: The Reverse Advent Calendar gives back. Join us as we partner with local outreach ministries and provide much needed necessities, as well as prayers and acts of kindness, each day during Advent. Calendars can be picked up at St. Paul's Central or downloaded at stpaulsbloor.org/adventask

2) Money: There are millions of disadvantaged Afghan refugees in Iran, especially mothers and young women. Donate to Operation Mercy's Women's Empowerment Project to provide education and training to enable these women to have a better, more positive and stable future. Our goal is to raise $27,500. Donate online at stpaulsbloor.org/adventask

3) Time: Volunteer your time at the Christmas Day Lunch to serve a hot meal to those who would otherwise be on their own. Sign up at stpaulsbloor.org/christmaslunch

Baptism: The Call to a Full Life

By Mark Regis, Associate Priest

In a remote and barren area near the Dead Sea, 325 meters below sea level, lies an ancient Biblical and archeological treasure. Centuries ago, the Essenes, a Jewish ascetic community, settled at what is known as Qumran. Seeking a life of holiness and purity, they established a place off the beaten track, away from the temptation and corruption of 'regular' life. The ancient historian Josephus described the Essenes in this way: "It also deserves our admiration, how much they exceed all other men that addict themselves to virtue, and this in righteousness; and indeed to such a degree, that as it hath never appeared among any other men." (from Antiquities of the Jews)

One of the ritual practices was to be immersed in a particular pool on a regular basis, signifying the washing away of corruption that was always close at hand. The Essenes were very perceptive of their inner condition. They knew repeated washing would need to correspond to the ways they repeatedly fell away from what was good and true. Noble as this community seemed to be, can life truly involve an unending cycle of washing away spiritual and moral imperfections?

One hundred kilometres north of Qumran, a young poor Rabbi appeared by the Jordan River to be baptized by John the Baptist, whose own personal piety closely resembled the Essenes. This young Rabbi was Jesus of Nazareth, and by entering into those waters he changed the nature of baptism and all of life. At that moment, through his unique divine identity and purpose, he began a ministry that would literally change the world and countless lives. No more would people have to return again and again to wash themselves clean, as Jesus took upon himself all that separates us from God and one another.

Today, that baptism of Jesus is the same. No more do we have to live by principles that state 'you'll never have enough, you'll never be enough, you'll never be good enough.' Followers of Jesus become bearers of God's gracious promises; to have their identity radically redeemed from spiritual darkness to light, to be welcomed into God's family, to be forgiven, washed clean from all that harms once and for all. Baptism into Jesus' sacrificial death and resurrection life signifies all this and more.

The Biblical writer Paul of Tarsus wrote this: "There is one body and one Spirit, just as you were called to one hope when you were called; one Lord, one faith, one baptism; one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in all." (Ephesians 4:4-6)

Jesus calls all of his followers to be baptized into the one, redeemed life of eternal purpose and hope that he promises for all his followers, and desires for the world. When we are baptized, in a mysterious way, Jesus draws especially close.

This Sunday, 9 individuals and families have decided to answer the call to follow Jesus into this baptized life. Together as a community we rejoice and give thanks as we hold them in their prayers for their future journey with Christ.

Prayer for Baptism & Membership Sunday

Lord Jesus, you know our hearts. Help us, by your Holy Spirit, to examine our hearts, to hear you and to follow you. As we gather today to witness and celebrate the steps of faith people are making, help us all to be transformed into your likeness. We give you thanks and praise that we have the opportunity to follow you by faith and in life. In Jesus' name we pray, Amen.
